I am a passionate Full Stack Developer from Argentina with 2 years of experience coding projects. I have experience working with JavaScript, TypeScript, NodeJS, Express, React, Redux, Angular, Vue, Next.js and SQL, among other technologies of the same nature. I can code a website from the ground up, Front or Back, including the database. I consider myself a proactive and creative individual with a positive attitude, strong organizational skills, a dynamic teamwork style, and strong problem solving abilities. I also have a good handle of Git Flow, a wide capacity for learning, and a good level of english. Currently, I am working on an e-learning platform using different technologies in combination with my skills to create genuine and innovative user experiences.
